FFA makes a positive difference in the lives of students by developing their potential for premier leadership, personal growth and career success through agricultural education.

Dear Ohio FFA Members and Supporters,

As you may know, agricultural education is a balance of student work-based learning, time in the classroom and/or laboratory and involvement in the intra-curricular, student-led organization, FFA. Through this education model, FFA chapters across the state are growing leaders, building communities and strengthening agriculture nearly every day. Because of these unique learning experiences and skills gained in and out of the classroom, FFA members become highly sought after employees for Ohio's agriculture industry.

Throughout these pages you'll see stories and highlights from the events and programs that help prepare our students for successful futures. In addition, just a few exciting Ohio FFA achievements during the 2023-2024 year include:

- Being home to 29,495 FFA members – a record-high membership
- Hosting the largest Ohio FFA Convention yet with more than 10,500 attendees
- Morgan Anderson, Amanda-Clearcreek, serving as the 2023-2024 National FFA Eastern Region Vice President
- Launching the Ohio FFA Works program in partnership with the Ohio FFA Foundation to connect graduating members to full-time employment opportunities
- Hosted 27 teachers of agriculture and FFA Advisors within their first three years of teaching at a professional development throughout the year

Finally, teachers play a critical role in our student success. I want to express my heartfelt gratitude our hardworking, knowledgeable, and dedicated agricultural educators for all they do for Ohio students, schools and communities. The Agriculture and Environmental Systems Career Field recently concluded its comprehensive three-year standards revision process. This effort involved 161 subject matter experts across 51 counties, who contributed to aligning standards and developing over 4,400 test items during 151 workshops. This would not have been possible without our agricultural educators.

Thank you for being a key part of our mission. Together, we are making a positive difference in the lives of students by developing their potential for premier leadership, personal growth and career success through agricultural education.

Thank you,

Alyssa Bregel

Dear Friends,

What an incredible year it has been for Ohio FFA! With record-breaking student membership, the highest attendance ever at our Ohio FFA Convention, 838 donors joining our mission, and impactful programs that serve students and teachers, this year truly stands out as one to remember. And it is all made possible by your support.

As a proud product of Ohio FFA, I personally understand the life changing impact of this organization. It has been my honor to begin serving as the executive director of the Ohio FFA Foundation over the past year. Reconnecting with my FFA roots while witnessing the evolution of our programs has reaffirmed my belief in our mission. The organization continues to shape lives, just as it shaped mine, and it has been rewarding to work on programs that serve students and partner with you to make the extraordinary FFA experience possible – the way that so many others did for me.

I am especially grateful for the opportunity to begin building relationships with people who are equally passionate about nurturing the next generation of agricultural leaders. Our Ohio FFA Foundation Board of Trustees and dedicated staff work daily to cultivate partnerships that generate financial support for programs and services that benefit Ohio FFA members.

Together, with your partnership, we focus on four key areas of need that drive our mission forward:

1. Student award programs
2. Teacher retention and recruitment
3. Ohio FFA state officer team and travel
4. Ohio FFA activities and initiatives

In the following pages, I am thrilled to share our accomplishments and celebrate the impact we've made together. However, our work is far from over. Your support is essential for us to continue serving students.

Thank you for your generous support. I invite you to join me in making a lasting and positive difference in the lives of Ohio FFA members. Together, we can grow, inspire, and empower the future leaders of agriculture!

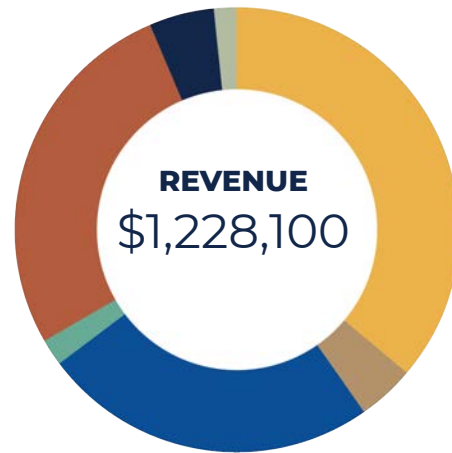

Sincerely,

Amy Jo Baughman

AMERICAN STAR AWARDS FINALISTS

STORY BY JODI M. BORGER • PHOTOS PROVIDED BY FINALISTS & LINDE'S LIVESTOCK PHOTOGRAPHY

Riley Berger, Luke Jennings and Audrey Pinger are Ohio's American Star Finalists, representing the best of the best among thousands of American FFA Degree recipients around the country. Each of these individuals have met rigorous requirements, including completing supervised agricultural experiences (SAEs), demonstrating excellent management skills, fulfilling education and leadership criteria, and earning the American FFA Degree.

AMERICAN STAR IN AGRICULTURAL PLACEMENT FINALIST

Riley Berger had no background in agriculture, but he found his niche in FFA in eighth grade when he and his fellow classmates were required to take one semester of FFA at Ridgewood

High School in Coshocton County.

"I really liked it a lot," said Berger. "I already knew I liked agriculture; I just never have really had the opportunity to do this."

During his freshman year, he officially joined FFA and became more involved by participating in Career Development Events (CDEs) and attending the National FFA Convention & Expo. That's when his FFA advisors began encouraging him to search for a job opportunity and an SAE to allow him to pursue his passion.

"My SAEs included working for ASB Farm, owned by Alan and Susan Brinker, where I worked with market chickens, market hogs, Katahdin sheep, commercial cattle, and gained experience in the show cattle industry,” said Berger. “This SAE gave me the opportunity to show a heifer through the Ohio Cattlemen’s Association BEST Program.”

Berger not only participated, he won Champion Crossbred Heifer for the entire program season.

Berger admits he was surprised that ASB Farms was willing to hire him because, in his mind, he didn’t know anything. Alan started him out slowly, but little by little gave him more responsibilities and eventually began allowing him to help with the cattle.

“Alan explained the nutritional values and differences between the multiple types of grass there are,” said Berger. “And eventually, I learned the difference between types of cattle, how efficient they were on grass, and why certain cattle did better on feed.”

Berger went from moving cows from field to field to marketing cattle to customers, keeping records and maintaining the herd.

“This project and being involved in FFA has really changed my life,” said Berger. I come from a small town where my home life wasn’t very good. I decided to move in with my grandparents and I’ve lived with them ever since.”

Berger credits ASB Farm for providing the knowledge and guidance he needed to become successful and responsible.

“They’ve taught me how to love — love agriculture, love people, and taught me how to be responsible,” said Berger. “They took a chance on me, and now I feel like family.”

It was that love, support and experience that has propelled Berger to achieve awards he never thought were possible — including being an American Star Finalist.

“All I can say is if I can do it, anybody else can do it because I came from ground zero. I knew absolutely nothing about any of this stuff,” said Berger. “As a kid, I played with toys and dreamed of one day being able to have my own farm, working on a farm and being involved in agriculture.”

Berger hopes to continue to be involved with agriculture in the future, whether through livestock judging or simply just teaching them about livestock as a small way to give back to those who poured knowledge into him.

“I would really like to thank my advisors, Logan Pyers and Sue Davis, for helping me get to where I am today and the Brinker family for guiding me to the person I’ve become and helping me get involved in the cattle industry,” said Berger.

AMERICAN STAR FARMER FINALIST

Joining the FFA was an easy decision for Luke Jennings, whose family was heavily involved in the organization. Jennings, who attended Felicity-Franklin High School in Clermont County, grew up raising beef cattle and swine on his family’s farm. However, FFA challenged him to try new things and expand his SAE in scope and quality.

“Growing up with livestock, I knew that I wanted to continue to be involved in the industry,” said Jennings, who is the current Ohio FFA President. “In my family, FFA was always a part of our lives. It felt like a natural progression for me.”

In 2017, Jennings and his sister purchased 50 percent of their family’s beef herd. He raises Maine-Anjou, Chianina, Simmental, and crossbred cattle with an emphasis on show stock.

“I’ve purchased and retained females to advance my herd and grow my SAE from a variety of breeders. I also market the calves as show cattle and breeding prospects to customers in Ohio and surrounding states through online marketing strategies,” said Jennings. “I also raise market steers and pigs to show, but

I quickly learned that simply relying on stock show sales wasn't always profitable."

For his products to generate a profit, he had to come up with a new strategy. He rethought his marketing process and began selling farm-to-fork wholesale pork and beef directly to consumers. This aspect of Jennings' diversified livestock operation has allowed him to educate consumers about where their food comes from while having more control over the prices he receives.

"One of the greatest lessons I've learned through my SAEs and FFA has been how to overcome challenges and adapt," Jennings said. "My agriculture educator has a sign hanging in her room that says, 'Life is 10% what happens to you and 90% how you react to it.' I feel like I've embraced this saying in so many ways."

Jennings admits he never believed during his FFA journey that he would achieve American Star Finalist status.

"Being a finalist is not just a recognition of my hard work, but a celebration of the values and lessons FFA has instilled in me," said Jennings.

Jennings has two words for students considering FFA: Do it.

Jennings, who grew up in a small town without a stoplight and a relatively small school, didn't always think he would have the same opportunities that students in larger schools would have. However, through FFA, he has been able to meet so many individuals from across Ohio and the United States.

"The people, memories, experiences, life lessons, values, and knowledge are unlike anything I've been a part of," said Jennings. "I wish that every student would have the opportunity to wear a blue corduroy jacket and be a part of this life-altering organization."

AMERICAN STAR IN AGRISCIENCE FINALIST

Encouragement from friends led Audrey Pinger to join FFA during her freshman year at Felicity-Franklin High School in Clermont County. Little did she know that simple decision would shape her life in significant ways. That same year, her FFA advisor invited her to participate in the Agriscience Fair, which would ignite her passion for research and set the stage for her SAE.

"My SAE revolved around four agriscience projects within the plant systems pathway, each probing different aspects of agricultural science," said Pinger. "During these four projects, I studied growing mediums and environmental conditions."

Her first project was focused on whether vertical or horizontal hydroponic systems produce the most crop. Her second project tested whether traditional growing methods, soil, or hydroponic systems were more effective in plant growth. During the third project, she tested the effects of light intensity on the rate of photosynthesis and plant growth. Her fourth project was on how water temperature impacted photosynthesis.

"My SAE has had a huge impact on me, and so did FFA," said Pinger. "I learned that imperfection is a part of growth, and that seeking help is a sign of strength, not weakness."

She quickly learned that embracing her mistakes and collaborating with others were essential steps in her growth as a researcher and individual.

To Pinger, becoming an American Star Finalist was a dream she never thought possible when she first joined FFA.

"I am extraordinarily grateful for this experience, and I am so happy to be here. If someone told me as a freshman that years later, I would be here, I wouldn't believe you," said Pinger. "I cannot get over my feeling of gratitude and excitement that I have over this opportunity."

Pinger encourages future FFA members to seize every opportunity that comes their way, especially when advisors believe in their potential. FFA is a remarkable journey filled with opportunities for personal and professional growth.

Pinger's most cherished experiences in FFA include mentoring and assisting fellow students and serving as a chapter officer for three years.

"My FFA experiences have solidified my decision to study agriscience education and pursue a career as an agricultural educator and FFA advisor," said Pinger. "My journey with FFA has not only enriched my life but has also ignited a passion for nurturing the next generation of agricultural leaders." •

2023-2024 NATIONAL FFA EASTERN REGION VICE PRESIDENT

MORGAN ANDERSON

Morgan Anderson, an Amanda-Clearcreek FFA member and 2021-2022 Ohio FFA Vice President, was elected as the 2023-2024 National FFA Eastern Region Vice President at the 96th National FFA Convention & Expo in Indianapolis, IN.

In this role, Morgan traveled across the country and world meeting with FFA members and industry supporters while advocating for agriculture and the National FFA Organization.

Morgan is studying broadcast journalism at Ohio University and hopes to enter the broadcast television industry as a multimedia journalist and reporter working to tell the stories of the agriculture industry on local news. Morgan is the 35th National FFA Officer from Ohio.

“CAN YOU SAY YOU DID YOUR BEST?”

This was the question my agricultural educator, Mr. Sharp, asked me after every career development event and officer interview during my FFA career. After some reflection, I would answer “yes.” He would then reassure me with words that have stuck with me: “As long as you can say you did your best, that’s all that matters.” These formative lessons shaped my time in FFA, and I cannot imagine my life without them.

Growing up in rural Fairfield County, Ohio, I was always surrounded by agriculture and the livelihood it provides — including my family’s seventh-generation farm. But it wasn’t until I took my first agricultural education class in the fall of 2017, that I truly grasped the significance of agriculture, not just in my local community or the state of Ohio, but worldwide. For the first time, I experienced what it meant to be “learning to do, doing to learn, earning to live, and living to serve.”

Morgan reciting the FFA Creed at the 2018 Ohio FFA Convention after placing first in the state Creed Public Speaking Career Development Event.

My high school years were filled with weekends working on my plant systems Supervised Agricultural Experience (SAE) and weekday mornings practicing public speaking. In any given week, I learned everything from constructing floral arrangements and managing poultry to receiving constructive feedback and crafting cover letters. Speaking in front of thousands and facilitating agriculture lessons for elementary students quickly became the norm.

These seemingly routine moments were pivotal in my development as a young leader. What I didn’t realize then, but understand now, is that they were all leading to something bigger. From chapter office to state, and state to national, these experiences culminated in my role as the National FFA Eastern Region Vice President.

What began as an understanding of agriculture’s broader role through classroom learning evolved into hands-on, boots-on-the-ground experiences. Over the past year, as a National FFA Officer, I traveled over 100,000 miles across the United States and abroad, representing our organization’s one million members. Whether in classrooms, meeting with stakeholders, or celebrating our organization’s achievements, I consistently noticed one thing — a deep sense of community. Combining fellowship and influence, FFA immerses our students in a deeper purpose rooted in agriculture, planting the seeds for our future.

Community is expressed when students repeat the words “I believe” in our FFA Creed. Community is in action when students cheer each other on during Ag Olympics after an FFA meeting. Community is reciprocated when students become officers, embodying what it means to be a student-led organization. Community is everywhere in FFA, and because of it, I feel confident, equipped, and supported to be one of the future leaders who will change the world. •

MEET KATELYN KINSELLA, BOTKINS FFA

WHAT IS YOUR SAE?

"As one of my SAEs, I am an intern at MVP Dairy, a 4,000 dairy cow milking operation in Celina, Ohio. My main responsibility is to give tours to groups or families that come to visit. In the Learning Center, visitors can explore more about the families that own the operation, sustainable agricultural practices, manure management, and see the 80-stall milking carousel."

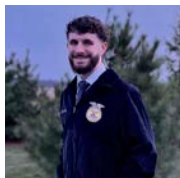

WHAT ARE YOUR FUTURE CAREER PLANS?

"As a career I want to work in the communications side for an agricultural company. I want to advocate for agriculture through interacting with the public and through social media. FFA has been the main leading factor for wanting to go into this career. Through high school ag classes and chapter office responsibilities, I have really found a passion for promoting an agricultural organization with my voice and on social media."

HOW HAS FFA CHANGED YOUR LIFE?

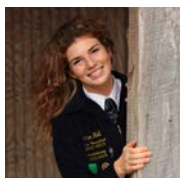

"Without FFA I would not be the person I am today. This organization has blessed me with people and experiences that have had such a large impact on my personal growth. FFA created a community for me that pushed me outside of my comfort zone and gave me a whole new level of confidence."

CHAPTER SUCCESS GRANTS

MORE THAN $54,000 AWARDED TO 19 FFA CHAPTERS TO MAKE A DIFFERENCE IN THEIR LOCAL COMMUNITIES

Ohio FFA chapters apply for and use Chapter Success Grants for community development projects that help local communities thrive and inspire continuous improvement. These grants and projects are made possible by support from Heritage Cooperative, Ohio Department of Agriculture, and Trillium Farms.

INDIAN LAKE-OHIO HI-POINT MADE POSSIBLE BY: TRILLIUM FARMS

Indian Lake-OHP FFA members raised market turkeys and donated approximately twenty, 25-pound turkeys for a total of 500 pounds of food to local families in need for Thanksgiving. This hands-on experience educated students about agriculture and entrepreneurship and created a sense of responsibility and empathy.

MARYSVILLE MADE POSSIBLE BY: HERITAGE COOPERATIVE

Marysville FFA prepared gift bags filled with supplies like sunscreen, hand wipes, lip balm, pens, and first aid kits. Members passed out the bags along with a hot meal to farmers during harvest. They also created "Watch Out for Farmer" signs that were placed throughout Marysville to remind drivers to be aware of slow-moving vehicles and keep the roads safe for farmers.

TALAWANDA-BUTLER TECH MADE POSSIBLE BY: OHIO DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

The Talawanda-Butler Tech FFA Chapter supported farmers in the community by providing them with necessary fire safety supplies and mental health resources. Farmers were provided with a fire blanket, power charge bank, vouchers for fire extinguisher servicing, and informational materials about mental health.

VERSAILLES EDUCATOR WINS $5,000 FOR CHAPTER

Ten exceptional ag teachers were named as finalists of the 2023-2024 Golden Owl Award® for their positive impact in the classroom and industry overall. Of the finalists, Dena Wuebker, agriculture teacher at Versailles High School and advisor of the Versailles FFA Chapter, was named Ohio's 2023-2024 Ag Educator of the Year.

Nationwide, in partnership with Ohio Farm Bureau, Ohio FFA, Farm Credit Mid-America and AgCredit, recognized Wuebker as the Golden Owl Award grand prize winner during the Industry Welcome Breakfast at the 96th Ohio FFA Convention. In addition to the title of Ohio's Ag Educator of the Year, Wuebker received the Golden Owl Award trophy and Versailles FFA received a $5,000 partner-funded donation to further its agricultural education efforts.

One nomination submitted on her behalf read, "Something that sets Dena apart from other teachers is not only her deep knowledge of agriculture but equally important her ability to inspire and connect with students. Her enthusiasm for agriculture is infectious, creating an engaging learning environment where students eagerly explore the opportunities that agriculture has to offer. Beyond the classroom, Dena actively seeks to expose her students to real-world applications and opportunities, ensuring a very real understanding of the agriculture industry."

SIDNEY FFA MEMBER RECEIVES JEEP TRUCK AS SIGNING BONUS

The RISE FFA Career Program was developed in 2019 and serves two purposes: providing an avenue for future leaders to join the agricultural workforce and providing the Ohio FFA State President with safe and reliable transportation during their yearlong term.

Since 2019, Sunrise Cooperative has provided a truck to the state president, and each spring, the truck was awarded as a signing bonus to an FFA member who joined the cooperative's team full time after graduation.

This year, Alexander Lamma, Sidney FFA, was announced as the overall signing bonus recipient, and he received the Jeep truck that the 2023-2024 Ohio FFA State President drove during his tenure.

Also, with Lamma's selection as the signing bonus recipient, the Sidney FFA Chapter received $1,000, made possible by Sunrise Cooperative, to help continue their ag education endeavors.

The RISE FFA Career Program inspired the Ohio FFA Works program which allows more members to find full-time employment in Ohio agriculture after graduation.

OHIO FFA WORKS

THIRTEEN MEMBERS HIRED FOR FULL-TIME EMPLOYMENT AFTER GRADUATION

Ohio FFA members are developing their potential for premier leadership, personal growth and career success through agricultural education – and many of these students are looking to get to work right after high school!

During the first session of the 96th Ohio FFA Convention, thirteen students were recognized for entering the workforce after graduation through Ohio FFA Works. In its pilot year, the hired students were Dakota Parrish, Crestview (hired by Mercer Landmark); Riley Collins, Hillsboro; Seth Crytzer, Hillsdale; Cara Deam, West Liberty-Salem; Skylar England, Bellevue; Alexander Lamma, Sidney; Seth Lenke, Oak Harbor-Penta; Brandon Rakovec, Hillsdale; Bodie Rogers, Tecumseh; Ethan Scaggs, Lincolnview; Madison Shell, Clyde; Boston Smith, South Central; and Benjamin Sonnanstine, Miami Valley Career Technology Center (hired by Sunrise Cooperative).

Through Ohio FFA Works, 2024 seniors applied to multiple employers by completing one application. The company partners were Helena Agri-Enterprises; Keystone Cooperative; Luckey Farmers, Inc.; Mercer Landmark; Sunrise Cooperative, and W.G. Dairy Supply, Inc.

Ohio FFA Works is a great option for members looking to earn a competitive wage close to home, learn in a hands-on environment, and jump-start their careers after graduation in a full-time position in Ohio agriculture.

"This program was created by the Ohio FFA Foundation to support both our members and industry partners," said Amy Jo Baughman, executive director. "Ohio FFA Works partners are investing in the programs and experiences that make FFA members great employees while being connected with new applicants."

In 2025, the program will expand to include both graduating and graduated current dues-paying Ohio FFA members. Companies interested in partnering with the Foundation should contact works@ohioffa.org.

Covington-UVCC FFA was a top 10 FFA Chapter in the state this year. Learn more about a few of the activities they completed which helped them earn this recognition.

- Covington-UVCC FFA implemented a leadership retreat and service project for all elected student leaders within grades 9-12 at Covington high school. Participants created planning sheets with smart goals for an upcoming club activity and identified issues to improve within the school.
- The chapter paired FFA members with students with special needs, and allowed them to develop agricultural skills together. Students planted seeds and grew their own vegetables, as well as worked in the shop doing basic measuring.
- Speak Up for AG Club was an introduction to advocacy for 5th and 6th grade students. FFA members met with the students after school four different times, culminating in a group presentation night for all parents and families to watch. The young students researched and presented about agricultural commodities.

SCHOLARSHIP ESTABLISHED TO SUPPORT ATHENS COUNTY STUDENTS

The Brent Bail Family Foundation Scholarship was created by Tom and Nicole Waltz in honor of Nicole's father, Brent Bail. Brent was born and raised in Athens and was a 1980 graduate from Athens High School.

After a long career in excavating, Brent became an admirable horseman, eventually helping to found the Ohio Ranch Horse Association. Brent was able to touch the lives of countless people by passing on his horsemanship abilities while providing lessons that will be remembered for a lifetime.

Eligible applicants should be post-secondary bound FFA members pursuing a vocational, associate, and/or bachelor's degree. Preference will be given to students from Athens County and who engage in community service and volunteer work; are involved in 4-H and equestrian activities; work on a farm and support themselves or their family; and demonstrate financial need.

Establishing an endowment is an incredible way to support FFA members in perpetuity. Endowments can be designated to a variety of purposes, including statewide and local support. If you or someone you know is interested in exploring the establishment of an endowment, please contact the Ohio FFA Foundation to discuss this opportunity.
